ADVERTISEMENTS

To the Founders of Armstrong Junior College:

This yearbook is inscribed by the Class of 1937 to all who have helped to establish Armstrong Junior College.

Therefore, to the Citizens of Savannah, whose college it is, and to such constructors as former Mayor Thomas Gamble, Mr. A. Pratt Adams, Mr. H. Lee Fulton, Mayor Robert M. Hitch, Mr. Lowry Axley, Mr. Frank Spencer, Mr. Herschel V. Jenkins, Mrs. Virginia Heard, Mrs. Lucy Moltz, Mr. Phillip H. Weltner, Mr. Mills B. Lane, Mrs. Lucy A. Johnson, and to many others friendly to the college.

Most of all, thanks must be given for the untiring work of President Earnest A. Lowe, his faculty, and the College Commission, who have worked together so well.

If the story of founding Armstrong Junior College could be told, what a tale it would be when in critical times it could have been killed or delayed by key men if they had lacked vision! How many ideas, how much work, what long conferences there must have been. There is need for people friendly to truth, and the hope we all have for Armstrong as a place for the sincere inquiry after truth must rest with the high purpose and courage of these people. Virtue must have the twin allies of wisdom and strength.

This yearbook is an attempt to present some aspects of our stay in Armstrong. Where we have failed to be clear, or where we have been stodgy instead of gay, we must leave next year to improve.

The Sophomore Class of 1937, the first to graduate, thanks all the founders of Armstrong Junior College, and hoping for sound growth, turns its eyes confidently to the future.

FORMER MAYOR THOMAS A. GAMBLE

MAYOR ROBERT M. HITCH

EARNEST A. LOWE, President

ANNUAL STAFF

The Editors of the 'Geechee thank those who have worked to produce the Annual. Mr. Gignilliat, and other members of the faculty gave many valuable suggestions; Alva Lines, Herbert Traub and their solicitors worked like Trojans and turned in a vast quantity of advertisements; Fred Simpson willingly worked out many details, as did Walton Purse in the Athletic section. The printers gave helpful advice, and a few others worked. The Editors suggest that the next 'Geechee staff begin early and feed ice-cream and peanuts to the staff.

THE INKWELL

Official Student Publication

The "Inkwell" grew from the efforts of interested students. Robert McCuen, Alva Lines, and Nelta Beckett organized, with McCuen as editor, and Lines as business manager. Volume One will be of importance as history of the school. The magazine featured news and subjects of topical interest, with articles and editorials by prominent people.

In 1937, the policy of the paper was altered slightly by Editor Ware and Business Manager Mann. Fiction, playlets, and feature articles were offered, as a necessary compromise to the infrequent issuance of the magazine, which made the news old before it could be printed. Many students contributed to its columns, and a new format was used, featuring slighter type and flush-left headlines.

(Due to difficulty in obtaining pictures, Joe Rivers, Austin Summey, Joe Battle, Sin Fah Chan, Joan Dodd, and Associate Editor, Arthur Jeffords have been omitted.)

LITERARY SOCIETY—1935-1936

This club was formed in the first year of Armstrong to give opportunity for expression in speaking and debate. After electing Howard Paddison president and Sidney Smith vice-president, the club presented a parliamentary debate, a humorous debate, and a mock trial written by a member, Hinckly Murphy, and performed by the club and several non members. It is hoped that the club has begun a tradition for this form of expression, which can be of great potential value in ordering thought in the student.

THE GLEE CLUB

This organization, which was begun by Margaret Spencer in 1935, has given many splendid performances in student assemblies, for conventions, civic clubs, and ceremonies. The Male Quartet was formed in 1935 and has presented many beautiful selections. Hugh Taylor was elected president of the Glee Club. The Orchestra was begun in 1937, and although it was able to give but one performance, "The Count and the Co-ed," it is hoped that it will grow and become a regular activity of the college.

ARMSTRONG JUNIOR COLLEGE OF SAVANNAH, GEORGIA

April 15, 1937

My dear Mr. Murphy:-

The athletic policy of Armstrong Junior College is to provide for and encourage participation in some form of supervised athletics for all students. We emphasize those sports which can be pursued in future years when school days are over. Realizing the natural hesitancy of a person to participate in any activity in which the individual lacks a knowledge of the fundamentals and skill, we try to give basic instruction and to develop efficiency. This course has been followed as far as facilities have warranted it; these we naturally expect to improve and perfect.

The school hopes to take its place in inter-collegiate competition in all seasonal sports. The football schedule for next fall is now partially filled and will be completed during the summer months. We are preparing this schedule with the idea of giving our students and the people of Savannah the best and the most colorful competition in our class. Basketball, boxing, baseball, tennis, and golf will be featured in the competitive field.

The first graduating class of Armstrong should be justly proud of its part in establishing a tradition for clean, whole-hearted, battling competition. It is indeed a rich heritage to hand down to the classes that are to follow.

Cordially yours,

I. M. Shiver
I. M. "Chick" Shiver,
Director of Athletics.

Some of our faculty caught in an informal moment during their past education.

In the graphic picture above, you see how they looked when they were earnestly working toward becoming young train robbers and lion tamers. At least that is what their Prof. Heriot thought at the time. Teacher had just spanked Mr. Reuben, and gave J. Thomas a whack with his pointer, but you see what little good it did when this picture was made; they are all at it again. The only good pupil is Mr. McNeill, who is perfecting his acrobatic swing on the chandelier. "Chick" is slipping J. Thomas a fast one, and Miss Ennis is tired out from passing notes to Mrs. Miller.

When this picture was taken, some of those later guiding spirits of Armstrong were playing hookey. Miss Fortson was home making fudge, Mr. Gignilliat had gone fishing with Mr. Lowe, and Mr. Boyd was making a toy sail boat and getting ground itch from walking in puddles.

As you can see, teachers are made, not born. Wild-cat Keach is cutting up as usual walking on his hands and thus annoying the teacher. Dr. Dyer is resorting to direct methods in getting a zero on his next report card for conduct. Prof. Heriot's patience is being tried to the utmost and he is considering retiring from teaching and going into the cup and saucer business.

Bless their little hearts, they learned so much guile while they were playing hookey, throwing spitball and passing notes, that they can now detect the slightest skullduggery in the cleverest freshman, so what's the use? You might as well sit still and larn, so's you won't have trouble at home.
